

ABSTRACT

Hybrid proteins associating a membrane protein with an ion channel which is not naturally coupled to said membrane protein and their use as electrical 5 sensors of said membrane protein (receptor, transporter) activity, for studying said membrane proteins, and for detecting and screening molecules of interest.